NORWAY AND VICINITY

McKinley's death, Saturday morning at 3.15. The sad news was received in Norway with many expressions of regret. The village bells were tolled.

A number of the windows in the different stores and places of business had the picture of our late President draped in mourning, and flags were hung at half mast in the village.

Was it the Work of an Incendiary. The buildings of Mrs. Nathan York on the Waterford road were destroyed by fire, last Saturday evening. The family were away and the fire started in barn. A good cow and hog were burnt. Some of the furniture was saved. Loss about $1,500. No insurance.

The buildings of John York, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Nathan York, who lives but a short distance from her, were burnt, Monday evening, Sept. 9. Mr. York was absent and it almost seems that these fires had an incendiary origin. The authorities are making an investigation.

The Little Hatchet and Cherry Tree. One of Geo. A. Cole's black cherry trees came before Judge Davis, last week, as well as the boy who was accused of cutting it down. The tree was out at any rate and will bear no more cherries. Mr. Cole was wrought up over it and the law made and provided for such cases was explained by His Honor to the boy—who promised to do better hereafter and was released on his own recognizance.

We are not aware that the boy denied cutting the cherry tree and possibly he may be another George Washington.

We withhold his name and will wait and see.

Mrs. Martin D. Dale is visiting her sister, Mrs. Thomas Willis, in Montreal. Charles A. Willey, formerly of Norway, has moved his family from Bethel to Berlin, N. H.

George S. Ames of Sherborn, Mass., is rusticiating in town. He is staying at Cyrus Woodsum's.

"Nearer My God to Thee," President McKinley's favorite hymn, was sung in the churches, Sunday.

Mrs. O. N. Bradbury has returned from her visit to relatives down east in Springfield and vicinity.

Geo. W. Winslow, clerk at H. J. Bangs' department store, recently found a potato on which was a sprout 8 feet and 5 inches long. The potato was solid and in good shape.

Dr. Jeff. Cushing Gallison of Franklin writes that on account of the rainstorm he was prevented from stopping in Norway when in Maine, this summer. He hopes to come later this fall.

Levi Shedd, esq., an ex-sheriff of Coos County, New Hampshire, and now a resident of West Paris, was in town, Saturday. Mr. Shedd's health has been poor, this summer, though it is improving.

The shopmates of Walter S. Chandler, who has been sick for some time, last week, recently made him up a "purse" of some forty dollars. It was a worthy and very kind remembrance and much appreciated by him.

Manager James H. Porter of the steamboat Pennesseewassee has stopped regular trips except on Sunday. The present high water he expects to be able to make trips as business requires until the lake freezes over.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Carr and Masters Ernest and Fred have returned from Nova Scotia and are at their cottage on Lake Umbagog.

Nathaniel Gammon has been carrying his left hand in a sling for a week or ten days past. He was experimenting with a double-knife "mitten box," got the hand too near the projecting corner of knives and sustained a bad cut out of the palm in front of the thumb.

Cyrus M. Buck has returned from Burlington, Vt., where he spent a fortnight with his son, Seaver Buck, at the latter's cottage on Lake Umbagog. While there he had some delightful steamboat excursions on the lake. Seaver Buck is sub-master of Hackley Hall, a large private school at Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Horne and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Horne made several delightful visits with the Messrs. Hornes' sister, Mrs. Rose Drake, and her husband, Dr. Wm. A. Drake, at the George Horne cottage by Lake Pennesseewassee. Dr. and Mrs. Drake returned to North Weymouth, the last of the week.

Real Live Wild Moose in Lovell. W. S. Fox, one of the Lovell selectmen, and Geo. W. Andrews of that town were in Norway, Saturday, on business. They report that Perley McKenney of North Lovell saw two moose, last Friday. The moose travelled from the barrens almost to McKenney's house, two or three miles.

Several persons have seen moose in the north portion of that town and in the north portion of that town. Mrs. West, Stoneham, took two photographs of moose.

Race Entries.

Score cards can be obtained on the grand stand and about grounds. Don't attempt to enjoy a horse race without one.
